Art Unit: 2819

The indicated allowability of claims 15-17, 19-21, and 34 are withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Watanabe and Forbes. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 15-17 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Watanabe (US 4,886,986).

Regarding claim 15, Watanabe discloses, in Fig. 3, a circuit, comprising:

a buffer (A1);

a sampling circuit (13) capable of storing a charge of a sample, the sampling circuit having a switch (see switch in 13); and a damping circuit (22) coupled between the buffer and the sampling circuit;

wherein the damping circuit is adapted to reduce charge glitches when the switch closes (inherent).

Regarding claims 16 and 17, Watanabe discloses, in Fig. 3, that the damping circuit comprises a low pass filter and the low pass filter is an RC low pass filter (RAP, CAP).

Regarding claim 18, Watanabe discloses, in Fig. 3, that the sampling circuit is a switched-capacitor sampling circuit (see 13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 19, 20, and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Watanabe in view of Forbes et al. (US 6,556,068 B2, "Forbes" hereinafter).

The teachings of Watanabe have been discussed above.

Watanabe does not teach a transistor having a source and a body coupled to each other and a current source coupled between the source and a voltage supply.

However, Forbes teaches a transistor having a source and a body coupled to each other and a current source coupled between the source and a voltage supply.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of applicant's invention to have substituted the buffer (A1) of Watanabe with the circuit as taught by Forbes in order to reduce a signal dependent current or to provide flexibility in setting threshold voltages in low voltage circuits.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 18 and 23-33 are allowable over the prior art.

Art Unit: 2819

Claim 22 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

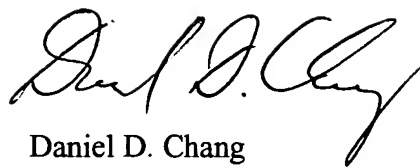

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Norberg et al. (US 4,633,424) discloses a circuit having a buffer, a low pass filter, and a sampling circuit.
